Do something incredible

A CAMPAIGN has been launched to attract more people to become foster carers.

Bolton is one of 23 local authorities backing the #youcanfoster campaign which aims to replace foster carers leaving due to retirement and natural turnover, at the same time as an increase in the numbers of looked after children.

The campaign wants to dispel some of the out-dated misconceptions about children in foster care as well as those around who is eligible to foster - and attract more people to step forward and find out more.

Whether you are older, single or never had children, you can foster.

Bolton currently has more than 280 children and young people in foster placements and this number continues to grow.

Need

Bolton needs foster placements for:

- brothers and sisters including sibling groups of three or more children or young people;
- older children and young people – more than half are aged 10 or older;
- long term where children and young people are not be able to live with their own families for a number of years, if at all. Children and young people stay in a family where they feel secure, while maintaining contact with their birth family.

 Children with complex or additional needs including behaviour that challenges. There is a need for 'short break' carers – carers providing a variety of different types of parttime care, stays for anything from a few hours each week to a couple of weekends each month, giving their own family or their full time foster carers a break).

Everyone

The council's Cabinet Member for Education, Schools, Safeguarding and Looked After Children, Councillor Ann Cunliffe, said: "We are always on the look-out for new foster carers, from all walks of life, and we appreciate those who are able to create a family for our children who need it most. The council can offer a wealth of experience and support to foster families and we encourage people who might be interested to talk to us about the possibilities available.

"We are particularly keen to hear from local residents who can offer a home to local children who are older or are part of a larger sibling group — maybe their own children have grown up and left home and they have space in their home and heart to continue family life with a foster child."

For more information on fostering visit http://you-canfoster.org/

"Fostering has been the most challenging but also the most rewarding thing we have ever done"

Pearl 56, from Farnworth, who has fostered 20 children during the last 16 years said: "My husband will agree with me when I say that it has been the most challenging but also the most rewarding thing we have ever done. I used to work as a nurse but I decided I wanted to devote my time to fostering and I love it. I enjoy working from home and it doesn't feel like work at all.

"We make the children part of the family and I can't think of anything else that I'd rather do. Initially we did worry about the kinds of challenges we would face, but you get an abundance of information beforehand from social services and there has never been a child that we have said no to. The key is never to be afraid to ask for help or advice if you need it."

Curtain's up

TWO key town centre developments are on track this autumn.

The nine-screen Light Cinema, with a capacity of 1200 seats, developed in the Market Place Shopping Centre has opened.

The Market Place's owners have invested millions of pounds in the centre including opening up the Vaults with new bars and restaurants and a special chefs quarter which proved a big hit with visitors to the Bolton Food and Drink Festival. New shops have opened with the return of big names such as Body Shop and Top Man, but it's more than just about retailing -there's also lots for families to do, including a mini golf course and miniature train.

Early 2017 sees the re-opening of the Albert Halls providing refurbished theatre, function rooms and other public

Both projects are a key part of the council's strategy for the town centre to improve to be a place where people visit, meet family and friends and spend time in.

A town centre cinema was a key aim and the council worked hard to get a private sector partner who would be able to develop it.

As well as improving the entertainment facilities at the Albert Halls the council is also supporting the refurbishment of the Octagon Theatre. The venue is one of the top regional theatres in the country and plans are being developed to focus on modernising and enlarging the building, and improving accessibility and accommodation for the theatre's on and off-stage theatre projects, including its work with young people.

A one off grant of £2m from the council enabled the theatre to bid for a further £4m from the Arts Council. The rest of the funding will come from grants and donations.

And as we announced in the last edition of Bolton Scene a new visitor attraction, Eternal Egypt, will be developed in the museum to highlight its significant collection of Ancient Egyptian artefacts.

Message from the Leader

Councillor Cliff Morris

The national housing crisis presents challenges for all our communities and this month I want to update you about how the council is working to tackle this and ensure homes are built in a way that is controlled, measured and sustainable.

As one of the ten councils in Greater Manchester, we are working together to produce a joint plan to manage the supply of land for jobs and new homes across our region; this plan is being called the Spatial Framework.

The desire to invest and develop in Bolton is something we should be proud of because it clearly shows confidence in our local economv. Our plan will ensure that we have the right land in the right places to deliver the homes and jobs we need up to 2035, along with identifying the new roads, rail and utility networks that we need to achieve this.

There are always difficulties in the relationship between local authority planning and central government, as legislation can change in the blink of an eye. Of course these topics inspire passion, and we try to pull in the direction of maintaining local democracy and not have big decisions dictated to us by central government – it is after all why planning committees exist.

As the Spatial Framework was developed it issued a 'call for sites' which was open to all developers. I want to be clear that these responses from developers are not the council's wish list – our plan is to work towards using as many brownfield sites as possible with existing planning permissions. We are looking at ways to make sure developers carry out their plans to build on those spaces, which in many cases they currently are not.

I want to reassure you that before this gets to the final process we will look at every single developer application and press hard for infrastructure investment to ensure that Bolton is treated fairly.

Refurbished Albert Halls wins award

THE Albert Halls complex will open early next year after a year-long refurbishment.

The extensive project was carried out by Wilmott Dixon and included repair and replacement of the roof, as well as refurbishment of all rooms in the Albert Halls.

The roof was replaced with Welsh slate, in keeping with the original slates and the council and Wilmott Dixon have been awarded a Welsh Slate Living Heritage award for the work they have carried out.

Inside the Albert Halls, the contractors have refurbished and redecorated all the function and conference rooms, including fresh paintwork and new carpets. In the corridor outside the council chamber, the contractors discovered an original tiled floor underneath the carpets and this has been restored to its original glory. The Festival Hall has been repainted, recarpeted and the chandeliers removed and cleaned, whilst in the Albert Hall, the organ has been removed and restored.

The Lancaster Suite has also been refurbished and will be available for conferences and functions

The Albert Halls new lay out also includes a café bistro and the council is currently talking to potential occupiers.

Leader of Bolton Council. Councillor Cliff Morris. said: "We are delighted that work is almost completed on the conservation and regeneration of the Albert

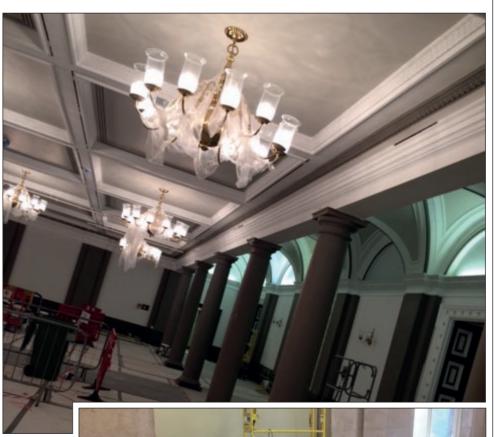

"We are also really pleased to be the first recipients of the Living Heritage award from Welsh Slate, which demonstrates the care and attention we have taken in restoring the halls, as we know it is an important building for Bolton people.

"The roof repairs and stonework repairs were essential as part of ongoing maintenance and the work will help maintain the building for many more years to

Meanwhile the restoration of the Festival Hall, Lancaster Suite and other conference rooms will allow us to provide a modern multi-purpose venue, suitable for a range of activities which will help us to make this historic building more economically viable years to come."

The entire building is Grade II listed and certain repairs and maintenance works were essential to preserve the asset's listed status.

The project has been paid for from one-off capital money that the council receives to spend on projects but which can't be used to run services which need regular income to keep go-

Promoting, maintaining

Remembering black history

THE Mayor of Bolton officially opened this year's Black History Month celebrations in Bolton.

Events throughout October were organised by the African Community Association of Bolton to recognise the contributions and achievements of the African community. Local artists delivered workshops about storytelling, drama, dance and music at various venues across the borough.

The Mayor, Councillor Lynda Byrne, is pictured opening the event which featured readings and a display of African dancing.

Helping you to help yourselves

WE WANT your ideas for how communities can be improved.

The council faces a lot of demand for its services, so has set up the Community Empowerment Fund to help communities help themselves.

Local community, voluntary and other non-profit making organisations can apply for a one - off investment to run a project or

We would like to see opportunities for people to become more active and connected, and helping people to do things for themselves so they don't need council services. For example, by:

- Running a local community facility, such as a community centre
- Getting more people in-volved in your community
- · Joining up with other groups or organisations in your community to work together
- Encouraging people to reduce waste and recycle and using local parks and green spaces

- Reducing crime and antisocial behaviour
- Improving people's health
- Reducing the number of children living in poverty

During the last two years the council has invested £1.3m into the fund with around half a million pounds awarded so far.

One scheme which was awarded funding of £33,000 was Castle Hill Wrestling Club to run sessions for five to seven year olds and eight to 16 years. It teaches children the basics of wrestling, but also children healthy eating and nutrition. The funding has been used to find and train volunteers, deliver taster sessions ins schools and set up a membership scheme to become self-financing.

The club has helped more than 220 children get fit and healthy with several going on to join the British Wrestling Association and with potential to compete. The club is also working with four schools.

Groups can apply for rants between £500-£40,000. If you are unsure if you meet the criteria the

Improved day care in Horwich

THE Brazley Centre in Horwich has been turned into a £1m day care facility.

It's been developed to support the health and wellbeing of older residents and those with a learning disability. Older adults' day care provision and day care for adults with learning difficulties have moved into the new hub.

The work included a new extension to the front of the building to incorporate welcoming entrance, sensory room and activity room. There is also a pleasant conservatory style extension created to the side of the building to provide a lounge area, plus improved outdoor space for service

The community centre has also benefited from a refresh and should open up more opportunities for community use.

The Deputy Leader of Bolton Council, Cllr Lin-da Thomas, said: "We're pleased to be investing in services for older people and for those with disabilities, and it is sure to be an excellent facility for the community.

"We recognised that the Brazley Centre could be refurbished and put to better use, therefore offering us the opportunity to bring together two services under one roof. It's also great to see our continued work with the NHS, delivering real improvements in services for our residents.

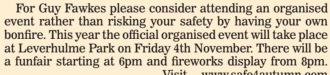

Be safe this Bonfire Night

HALLOWE'EN and Bonfire Night are occasions where families get together to enjoy the festivities, but there are times when this can be spoiled by the mindless actions of a few people.

The police, fire, council, and other agencies are work ing together to make sure people enjoy the celebrations safely. 'Treacle' is the name given to the campaign in which agencies join forces to prevent Bonfire and firework injuries, antisocial behaviour and criminal damage during this period.

Hallowe'en can be a lot of fun for children and young people, but it can also be distressing and intimidating for some residents. If you are going 'trick or treating' please respect and consider others to ensure everyone has a safe and enjoyable time.

Visit www.safe4autumn.com to find out about other organised events in Bolton.

Attending an organised bonfire is always the safest way to enjoy the festivities, but if you still want to hold your own bonfire, please make sure you keep yourself and your family safe by visiting safe4autumn. com for some bonfire and firework safety advice.

To report firework nuisance or other anti-social behaviour call Greater Manchester Police on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Have your say

CHANGES to Bolton's Parliamentary constituencies are being proposed as part of a national review.

The Boundary Commission for England is an independent and impartial non departmental public body which is responsible for reviewing the boundaries of all the Parliamentary constituencies in England.

It has proposed reducing the number of MPs in England from 533 to 501, as part of reducing constituencies across the UK from 650 to 600. It is also trying to make sure that the number of voters in each constituency is roughly equal - no smaller than 71,031 and no larger than 78,507. Constituencies currently have between 54,232 to 105,448 electors.

- In Bolton it is proposing:
 Bolton West to include
- the council ward of Halliwell.
- well. The Bolton North East should ments include the Rumworth and Great Lever wards from the existing Bolton South East constituency.

As a result of the proposed changes in the boroughs of Bolton and Bury, it is proposed that a new constituency, to be called Farnworth, be created from five Bolton Council wards and three Borough of Bury wards from the existing Bolton South East and Bury South constituencies.

Further information about the changes can be found on the commission's website www.bce2018.org.

The deadline for comments is 5 December.

Racing ahead

THE Bolton Community Half Marathon was a great success attracting some 700 runners for the tough course.

The race started and finished on Le Mans Crescent, and went along Chorley New Road then followed the Middlebrook trail, with a loop through Lostock and Westhoughton before returning along the Middlebrook trail back to the finish.

Bolton has a long history of running and sporting competition and world record holder Ron Hill competed for Bolton Harriers. In the early 1980s the Bolton Marathon was one of the first and biggest in the UK. The spiked running shoes was also invented in Bolton by the company which went on to become Reebok.

Crackdown on flytipping

SIX residents have charge and costs of £85. been taken to court as part of a continuing crack down on flytipping.

Sisters Iveta Lakatasova and Monika Lakatasova were both given a community order with a curfew and tagged for eight weeks from 7am to 7pm. They were also ordered to pay costs each of £377 and victim sur-

The pair were caught following an investigation by an environmental enforcement officer in Great Lever.

Both sisters admitted flytipping the waste on four separate occasions.

Three people were also given fixed penalty notices for leaving waste in back streets, including a sofa and wooden shelving. Aneta Calota, Monika Kotlarova and Rafael Marek were all fined between £80 and £160 pounds and ordered to pay costs of up to £185 each, plus a victim surcharge.

Bolton Council's Executive Cabinet Member for Environmental Services, Councillor Nick Peek said:

"We are determined to crack down on fly tipping, which causes all sorts of problems for local residents, from attracting pests to becoming a fire risk. The waste also costs local taxpayers for the council to remove it.

"We are pleased that these sisters have been handed a community order, which includes carrying out community payback work, such as removing litter and flytipping.

"We hope that picking up other people's waste will demonstrate the act as a deterrent to those thinking of leaving their waste in the back streets in future.'

Working together for a Better Bolton

Winter is nearly here...

This time of year can be great fun but cold weather and shorter days, plus more colds, flu, and other bugs mean that winter can also be a difficult time for many of us.

Bolton Council and NHS Bolton Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) are working together to help you and your family stay safe, and healthy this winter.

Have you had your flu vaccine?

Remember vaccinating against flu doesn't just protect you but it also protects those around you.

Self Care

Lots of minor illnesses can be effectively treated at home. The best prescription for a cold is to get lots of rest, drink plenty of water, and take paracetamol. Cough and cold medicines can be bought over the counter and will help to relieve your symptoms.

Pharmacy

Many medicines are available at your local pharmacy without a prescription and pharmacists offer expert advice without an appointment.

Lots of Bolton pharmacies are open at evenings and weekends.

All Bolton GP

practices are open 8.30am to 6.30pm Monday to Friday, with additional weekend appointments available at Halliwell Surgery and Deane Medical Centre. Your practice provides same day assessment for children under 12. If your practice is closed, the number for the GP Out of Hours Service will be given on the answerphone message.

A&E

Is for serious and life threatening conditions only. If you go to A&E with minor health problems you may be turned away and directed to a more suitable NHS service.

Bolton Care Record

Bolton Council and the CCG are making a few changes to health and care services in Bolton so they work better for you. As part of our plans, local health and care organisations will be working more closely to make patient care even better.

To do this, we need to make some changes so that everyone involved in your care can see your medical records. This means that your GP, a specialist at the hospital, a district nurse, or a social care professional (to name but a few...) will have access to complete, accurate, and up to date information and you won't have to repeat yourself all the time.

Included in your Bolton Care Record will be the medication you are currently taking, your allergies, test results, and critical medical and care information. Health and care staff who are directly involved in your care will be able to access your information but only if they have your permission to do so.

The benefits for you:

- Joined up care is safer care.
- Faster care in an emergency.
 Sharing records means that health and care professionals can skip the questions and focus on you.
- More time spent on you and your care, instead of going over the same information over and over again.
- Your care plan (if you have one...)
 is quickly available to all those who need it.
- More effective record sharing helps services work better together, potentially reducing hospital stays so you can get home sooner.

Could you help a neighbour this winter?

Some people find it harder to continue with their daily activities during the winter months. People may find it difficult to go to the shops, visit friends or go on days out.

Those struggling to pay their gas and electricity bills may be less likely to invite friends and family round to visit. All of these factors combined can make winter a difficult time.

How can you help?

Watch out for the signs of winter illness - People with existing health conditions are particularly vulnerable during the winter months as cold weather can increase risk of illnesses such as colds, coughs, flu, heart attacks, strokes, breathing problems and hypothermia.

Look out for signs of serious illness, such as drowsiness, slurred speech and the person not complaining of feeling cold even in a bitterly cold room. If you're worried, ask if there's a relative or close friend you can phone, or call the GP.

Start a conversation - Talk to your neighbours when you pass them on the street and build up relationships, this will make it easier to start conversations when you want to offer any help.

If your neighbours are older they may have hearing difficulties or memory problems so make sure that you speak clearly and take time to listen.

Offer practical help - Ask if they need any help with tasks such as shopping, posting letters, and collecting prescriptions.

Share your time - Volunteering is a great way to help, from befriending services to lunch clubs, your local community and voluntary service can help you find a volunteering opportunity, call Bolton CVS on 01204 546060

Share a meal - Someone who lives alone may find it difficult to cook for themselves,
why not take round
an extra plate of hot home-cooked food?
As well as being practical,
it's a nice way to share your time with a neighbour.

Help with household tasks - Some health conditions may worsen during the colder months meaning that some people may benefit from help with basic chores. This could include taking out the rubbish, changing light bulbs, fastening sash windows, clearing snow off the path, and putting up pictures. This is also a good opportunity to have a chat and see how someone is feeling.

There are numerous services across Bolton that can help people get out and about and engage with others over the winter months, from lunch clubs at Age
UK to community sessions at your local UCAN centre.

Recycle your Christmas tree

For a charge of £12 Bolton Community Transport Furniture Services will collect and recycle your real Christmas tree. Call 01204 364777 before Friday 6 January to arrange collection. You can also take it to your local Recycling Centre.

Recycle this Christmas

We all know Christmas can be a busy time with so many lists to write, shopping to organise and parties to attend.

But don't forget to recycle over Christmas.

Christmas dinner, New Year's Eve celebrations and friends and family popping round all mean one thing – fridges and cupboards stocked with food and drink.

Bottles made from plastic and glass, cranberry sauce jars, mince pie foil cases can all go straight into the burgundy bin, but remember to give them a quick rinse in washing up water and remove any plastic tops or lids.

On Christmas morning after opening the presents recycle all the wrapping paper and cardboard boxes in your beige bin along with the cardboard sleeves from food packaging and brandy sauce cartons when preparing your Christmas dinner.

Food waste such as vegetable peelings, turkey bones, plate scrapings, Christmas pudding, tea bags and coffee grinds, and any out of date food can be put in your food waste container or green bin.

And while we might spend a little extra time getting ready for Christmas and New Year nights out, just remember that toiletries such as plastic shower gel and shampoo bottles, deodorant and shaving gel aerosols along with card packaging from face creams and moisturisers can all be recycled!

For more information or to order your recycling container visit: www.bolton.gov.uk/loverecycling

Do it online

IF YOU need to let the council know about a problem then there is an easy way to do it online.

You can report a range of problems through the council's website – www.bolton. gov.uk

FLYTIPPING: This is the illegal disposal of waste on public land and we treat it very seriously. We will prosecute anyone caught flytipping waste. Our website has a form for you to fill in to give us as much information as possible – where the waste is; what is in the waste if you can tell; and as much information as possible if you saw who left it.

We will look through the waste to see if there is any evidence of who has dumped it and we will aim to remove the fly tip inside three weeks. Please don't disturb the waste as it could be dangerous.

Bolton at Home will clear up waste left on their estates, while any left on private land will be the responsibility of the land owners.

POTHOLES: You can report potholes or damage to roads or pavements by completing our online form. We inspect our public roads and pavements at regular intervals but we still need your help to bring to our attention possible hazards and problems.

DOG MESS: Owners must clean up after their pets if they have fouled public land, and if they don't, could be fined £75 or prosecuted with a fine of up to £1000. Our website has a form where you can report dog fouling.

BIN COLLECTIONS: Waste and recycling collections take place between 7.30am and 6pm. There can be a number of reasons why your bin may not have been emptied, including the street being blocked by cars. If your collection is missed, call 01204 336632 or email wasteandrecycling@bolton.gov.uk before 5pm the next working day after your collection was due to take place.

King Kenny's bicycle on display

THE childhood bike of our Olympic hero, Jason Kenny, has gone on display in Bolton Central Library.

Gold medallist Jason, from Farnworth, rode the Kona Main BMX as a teenager.

The red and black bike has been loaned to Bolton Library and Museum Services by fellow Farnworth resident Rob Tyler, who bought it at a local church auction.

Rob, who is married with two daughters, said: "My mum is a church warden at our Lady of Lourdes in Farnworth, which is the same church that Jason's parents attend. I noticed his BMX was going up for auction, and I thought it would be a good way to help raise funds for the church."

Bolton Council's Cabinet Member for Culture, Youth and Sport, Cllr John Byrne, said: "We are so glad Rob was put in touch with us as we love to help out in situations like this. Rob said he wanted the bike to hopefully inspire young people in the town, and show that to be a success at sport you don't need the latest kit."

He added: "I had this idea in my head that I could donate it to the Jason Kenny Centre or Bolton Council but I struggled to find the right person to speak to. Then I decided to donate it to charity to raise funds for a good cause, but wanted to make one last phone call to the council before doing so – and that's when I struck gold!"

The bike is now affixed to the wall of the Children's Library, with plans to transfer it to Farnworth Library at a later date.

Bolton Museum and Library Services also has on display a portrait of Bolton boxer and Olympic silver medallist Amir Khan in the Art Gallery; plus the Commonwealth medals of the country's most successful amateur wrestler, Albert Aspen, on display in the Bolton Lives gallery.

Progress with new centre

VISITORS to Horwich Leisure Centre can see the progress being made to the new facility.

Foundations and concrete pilings have all gone in, and the steel sheet piles are now being installed ready for the retaining wall, with the steel frame arriving on site early November.

The new leisure centre is being built on the site of the former multi-storey car park, and the current centre will remain open until it is ready. The old centre will be demolished to make way for a modern health hub housing multiple GP surgeries and localised health services.

The project is funded by Bolton Community Leisure Trust, which manages the centre, and Bolton Council to encourage more people to take up sport and live longer healthier and happier lives.

Ongoing communication with customers and residents to try and address any issues that have arisen and help minimise disruption.

As well as a dedicated information point within the centre progress pictures and live coverage of 'work in progress' can be seen through a time lapse camera on the Horwich Rebuild page at www.boltonleisure. com.

Wherever possible local businesses have been supported in the building of the new facility:

 All the steel frame building components has been produced, supplied and installed by a Bolton steel fabricator.

- The total tonnage of steel that will be used in the building will be 210 ton.
- The proposed concrete retaining wall has been supplied by a company that produces 1.5 miles of concrete wall a week from their factory.
- All the concrete for the foundation and slabs will be provided by a company from Horwich Business Park.

Fantastic food festival

Around a quarter of a million foodies flocked to Bolton for the town's biggest and best food and drink festival yet.

As we reported in the last edition 263,000 visitors came along to the four-day event with some travelling from across the UK and as far afield as France to sample food and drink from 180 traders, and watch top chefs in action.

The event is part of the council's strategy to encourage people to visit the town centre and the borough. From a small start 11 years ago the event has grown to become the biggest food festival in the north west.

This month we round up what happened in pictures:

> The ever popular James Martin returned to the festival for the seventh time. He said it was wonderful to see how it had grown over the years

Great British Bake Off winner, Nadiya Hussain, was appearing at the festival for the first time

Food demonstration and wine tasting with Kate Goodman, Oz Clarke and John Torode

The Mayor of Bolton, Cllr Lynda Byrne officially launched this year's Bolton Food and Drink Festival In the Vaults at Bolton Market Place with (from left) Virgil Simpson, Logistics Director from main sponsors Aldi; chef Michael Caines; and Cllr John Byrne, the Mayor's Consort

But it was about more than just the celebrities with cooks, bakers, and traders from around the region demonstrating their wares, and other activities for all the family...
